- Independent hoarding support practitioners

We are also developing a parallel workstream with experts by experience to inform The Taskforce and help drive forward this work.

Hoarding Taskforce - a shared ambition

To better manage risk, keep people safe and make effective use of limited resources to support people who hoard, their families, communities and workers; adopting a life-span approach.

We appreciate that we operate in complex systems and need to understand barriers and levers in real life context to inform solutions.

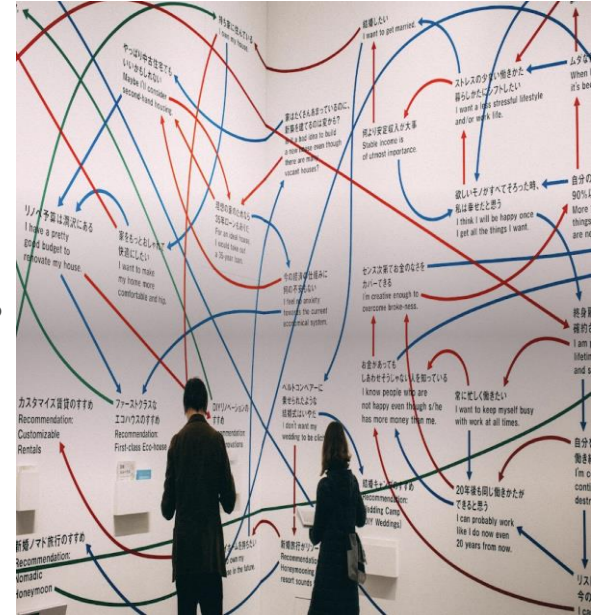

Ask the Right
Questions

Questions stakeholders have raised so far....?

On infrastructure

- Who in the system can provide the longer-term relationship-based support?
- What levers can I pull to secure funding for people who hoard? (from whose budget, for what 'support'?)
- What can be provided/funded by NHS and health? SW? Housing? Environmental Health? Etc
- What can we do about variable service levels in different areas (if anything)?
- What does this mean for our planning & commissioning?

Things to consider....

On supporting workers

How can we:

- ensure all stakeholders know 'just enough'?
- provide L&D for those who need to know more; keep them safe?
- find ways to support joined up approaches across stakeholders - to learn together, be more consistent; support shared accountability, manage tensions?
- build in ways to improve services by listening to experts by experience; generate other useful data?

World cafe discussions (20 mins)

- What helps you, or your organisation, work with a hoarding situation at present?
- What else would help you to work well with a hoarding situation?

Please take some notes and be ready to feedback 2 or 3 key points from your group to the rest of the room.
